ALAN KENISON NAMED HEALTHCARE TRUSTEE OF THE YEAR

October 17, 2007—Alan Kenison, board member for Central Valley Medical Center, was recently awarded the Rural Hospital Trustee Service award by UHA, Utah Hospitals and Health Systems Association. The award, presented during the Association's Fall Leadership Conference at the Homestead Resort in Midway, recognizes individuals who have made significant contributions to Utah's healthcare sector while serving as a community trustee.

Kenison has served on the Central Valley Board of Trustees since 1985 and has contributed his financial and leadership skills to the board for the past 22 years. He has served as chair of the hospital's Finance Committee and is a past Board Chair. As a trustee of Central Valley Medical Center, Kenison has provided exceptional leadership and a strong commitment to serving the citizens of Juab, Millard, Sanpete and Southern Utah counties. He was instrumental in the building of a new hospital facility as well as the completion of a recent expansion project, adding a community pharmacy and employee day care center to the Central Valley campus. The expansion project also provided additional patient care areas and administrative office space.

In addition to his board service to Central Valley, Kenison has held many church and civic leadership positions. He earned his finance degree from Brigham Young University. He is active in many agricultural endeavors, including serving as President of the Juab County Farm Bureau. Kenison served on the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service board as well as serving as president of the Utah Hay Grower's Association.

In his spare time, Kenison enjoys spending time with his family and enjoying the recreational activities offered in Utah's great outdoors. Kenison and his wife, Sheree, have seven children and fifteen grandchildren.

"Alan is a kind, generous, dependable and well-informed individual, commented Mark Stoddard, CEO of Central Valley Medical Center. "It has been a distinct honor to be able to work with him in our efforts to continuously improve the quality of healthcare available in our community."

The 2007 Trustee Service Award was presented by the Trustee Council of UHA, Utah Hospitals and Health Systems Association. UHA is a private, not-for-profit trade association representing Utah's hospitals and health systems.
